Perfection is Unattainable To Man

Perfection is unattainable to man. His frailty forbids him from climbing to the peaks of ideality, and he chokes on the lofty air of truth. Just when his search for Utopia seems completed the waves of misfortune overwhelm him and his hopes are dashed upon the rocks.

Fun — Part of what school is all about.

"Lean on me, I'll be your friend."

Two wounded veterans trade war stories.

"What do you feed him, Mr. Rickard?"

Senility — It seems as though John Baldwin and Allen Coleman have returned to their second childhood. Could it be they never left the first?

Posters such as there were seen around school all during Mock-election week.

We caught you this time, Paul!

Steve and Betsy pause a minute during their prom decorating activities.

Man Continues Quest for Perfection

Nevertheless, man continues in his quest for perfection. The desire for progressive change is inherent in the human soul. This innate characteristic cannot be washed away by the rivers of time. Evil cannot destroy it. It can only be lost through neglect.

"Put your finger right here and please try to hit the nail."

Learning the tricks of the trade.

"Hey, this test isn't that hard."

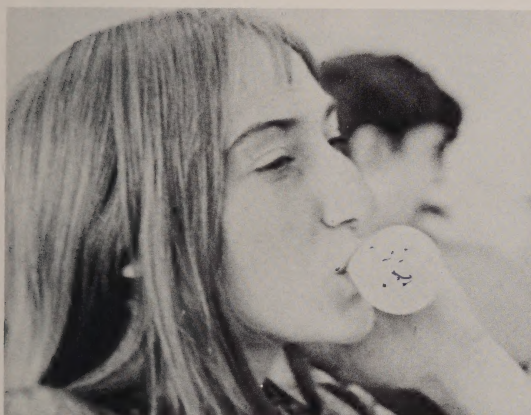

Many hours are spent in socializing during the school day.

You've come a long way, boys.

Therefore, man must put the process of change to good use. He must master its concepts, employing them at every worthwhile opportunity. However, he cannot abuse it. Indiscriminate change destroys the stability so important to life.

A favorite past time of many LHS students.

Students sometimes rely on methods other than study to predict their outcome.

Members of the chorus sing for graduation exercises.

Life Undergoes Constant Change

Life is a wonderful thing. But to keep it fresh, it must undergo constant change. As long as man is willing to make these changes, and make them with his eyes focused on perfection, life will remain beautiful.

The old and the new.

"Look at that."

Surely its not a new classroom!

Love And Laughter From Scotland

After "ten weeks in Scotland," the lads and lassies of the senior class presented Loerner's and Lowe's "Brigadoon." Many hours of hard work were put into the production of the Broadway musical, but the result was more than worth the trouble involved.

Besides being enjoyable and enriching, the play contained a message — through love, miracles are possible. Thoughts such as that are often forgotten, but "Brigadoon" helped us focus our minds more sharply upon them.

"It's almost like being in love," Tommy tells Fiora.

Two Americans, Jeff Douglas and Tommy Albright, wander into Brigadoon, setting off an amazing chain of events.

Mr. Emerson, Mrs. Markowitz, and Mrs. Cosby try to determine the winners of the talent contest.

BETA CLUB

The Beta Club had its annual induction assembly in October and tapped 11 new members into the club. They had a Christmas party for the new members and placed the school tree in the cafeteria. In March, the club sponsored the talent show. For the first time at L.H.S. there was a Jr.-Sr. Powder-puff football game, also sponsored by the Beta Club.

Winners of the Beta Club Talent Show – Glennette Fox and Grace Payton.

The art students had a more successful club this year than in the past. Many of the new classroom arts carried enthusiasm over into club work. The club members chose an executive council to make plans for the new year.

The DECA Club's yearly activities included attending the Fall Rally in Broadway and participating in the District Contests in Charlottesville. They won the prize for the best float in the Luray Christmas Parade. The Club held a small Christmas party at the Hawksbill Nursing Home which was enjoyed by old and young alike. Members conducted a survey in school to poll students' attendance at school dances. The Club went roller-skating together, sold candy for the money-making drive, and throughout the year, held an employer-employee banquet.

The FFA Has Many Faces

The FFA Boys prepare to deliver their oranges and grapefruits as their money-making project gets under way.

The F.F.A. has been very active in the community, as well as in the national organization. They seeded the new Rescue Squad grounds, and participated in the Community Clean-up Campaign. The Club attended the State Rally, the Pennsylvania State Farm Show, Federation meetings, and the Federation Leadership Banquet. A member was sent to the Youth Highway Safety Conference in Va., and several were sent to represent the chapter at the National F.F.A. Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. Luray's Club brought in some honors when they competed in the Federation Contest. The Club sold fruit and operated a booth at the Page Fair in order to finance their many trips. F.F.A. members might have earned the reputation as "farmers", but the boys proved that they are willing and able to participate in many other projects as well.

Future Homemakers of America

F.H.A. Club members were kept busy planning special programs for all regular meetings. They held the annual Mother-daughter Banquet and served for the F.F.A. Parent-son Banquet. They sold pens, potholders, and cook books to earn money for the club trip. None of the girls will forget the F.F.A.—F.H.A. hayride!

As a community project, the FBLA sold trash bags for the March of Dimes, in coordination with the National Project. They also walked as a group in the March of Dimes "Walk-a-Thon". Several guest speakers spoke to the Club about the growing field of business, and a few business offices in the area were invaded by FBLA members. The Club held a bake sale and also sold Stanley Products as part of their yearly fund-raising drives. Then in the spring, they took a breather from the business world and held a picnic for members and guest.

F.T.A.'s main objective being to prepare its members for a possible career in the field of education, "future teachers" were sent to the elementary school once a week to aid the teachers in conducting their class. Guest speakers attended several meetings to speak on the educational field. A student-faculty volleyball game was sponsored to raise money. At the end of the year, the Club awarded a $50 scholarship to a graduating senior member.

Annual Fiesta

Highlights Spanish

Club Activities

The Spanish Club was very active. Among its projects were the annual fiesta, assembly program, and Christmas caroling. Through guest speakers and skits put on by the members themselves, Spanish students can have better opportunities to learn about the customs and dress of people in Spanish speaking countries.

FRENCH CLUB

This year the French Club members had a French-food covered dish supper, the Mardi Gras, and a picnic. They made a scrapbook, made up a new charter, and had a play for one of the S.C.A. assemblies. They sold jonquils to the students to celebrate the first day of spring. At their last meeting, the three most valuable club members were announced.

INTERACT

The InterAct Club raffled off a radio and held a sockhop during basketball season. Its members served as ushers for all band concerts. At the end of the year, a party was held in honor of all new members.

The Leo Club has been very active in community affairs. They had Thanksgiving and Christmas food drives and raised money to aid the blind on White Cane Day. They also held a spring bake sale with all the money going to the community project. They worked closely with the Lions Club in attending board meetings and ushering and running the concession stand for the club's annual show. The club also awarded a scholarship to one of its senior members.

The Varsity Club's main activity was ushering for all home basketball games and manning the concession stand. New members ordered their varsity jackets, the constitution was revised, and the annual picnic was held.

Taking care of last minute details.

Behind the scenes – producing a school newspaper.

Have you ever wondered how our school newspaper got its name? The original "Tatler" was a paper of wit begun in England in 1709 by Richard Steele. Our school picked up the title in 1956.

This year, Miss Goodman, the new advisor, and a group of struggling amateur journalists resurrected what, for a time, seemed to be a swiftly dying paper and turned it into one of the most successful ever at L.H.S.

With several new approaches and a few special issues, the "Tatler" gained momentum and recognition. In February the special "pollution" issue was named as one of seven national winners in the Gold Pen Awards Contest.

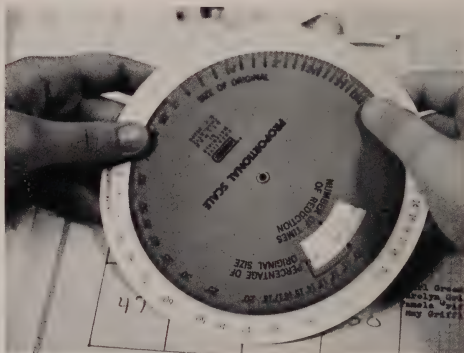

So the "Tatler" has survived, and thrived!

Highland Staff Undergoes Metamorphosis

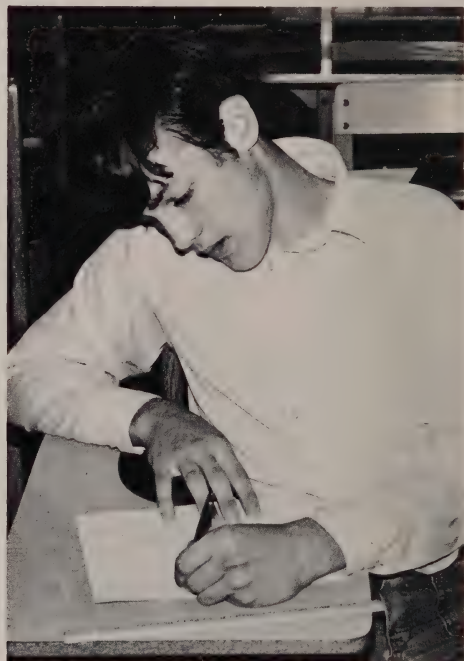

To capture the metamorphosis of L.H.S. was the exclusive goal of our small dedicated yearbook staff. The clicking of a camera, cropping and proportioning of pictures, designing layouts, selling advertisements and subscriptions, attending workshops, composing write-ups, and meeting deadlines. These were a part of the responsibilities handled by the members. But all the hard work and long hours of worry were forgotten as the Highland was handed to a fellow student and his face registered appreciation and thanks.

Anna Mae Bailey attempts to turn a blank sheet of paper into a page of the Highland.

ACADEMICS

One of the goals that the English classes established this year, was to have the students gain a mastery over the language; in preparation for the future years when he is on his own and has to somehow communicate his ideas and thoughts to others through the power of speech. This was accomplished by learning not only the fundamentals of English, but by applying this knowledge to speaking effectively in front of the class. Students also learned to express themselves on paper by writing essays, book reviews, compositions. Some classes even gave the students an opportunity for trying their hand at writing poetry.

Spanish and French students acquainted themselves with the cultures and customs of their respective countries. French students learned that eating eggs for breakfast is unheard of over in France, and are usually eaten for lunch, along with yummy cheeses, bread and an assortment of fruits.

What? "You mean you don't know where you're going to college?"

The government classes were kept busy during the year with current events tests and with many, many reports for Mrs. Broyles. Mr. Ingram kept the juniors occupied watching his interesting filmstrips and listening to his lectures that got to the point of the matter. Same period, same room, same number of days but a completely different atmosphere filled the air during sociology class held second semester. Discussion on such topics as 2040 time capsule, understanding yourself, marriage - the traditional custom mixed with the modern day approach, mores and morals of the varied cultures, the effect of primary and secondary group on a person, the need for individuality and comformity plus the ten articles due every Tuesday. These were just a small part of the classes lively activities.

Unsolv-able but not Impossible

Students' minds were ticking away this year as they were sweating over proving theorems, graphing and solving equations, not to mention those lovely little word problems. The cry of many students taking algebra was "It's nothing but a big headache," but most were left with a sense of accomplishment after solving the problems that at first were "unsolv-able."

Gym classes provided a time for fun and relaxation for most students, but they also played an important part in the learning process. Students learned the fundamentals and the "how to's" of the different sports, but they were challenged by applying their knowledge by actually participating in the games.

HOME ECONOMICS

The home ec girls this year busied themselves with making delectable goodies that they had the fortune (or misfortune?) of eating afterwards.

They acquired useful information about interior decorating, fashion, personal hygiene and making simple, but delicious meals out of a limited amount of money.

They also prepared very diligently for a fashion show held in the early spring. A professional model instructed them on the graces and poise of modeling. When the big night had finally arrived, they proudly wore their outfits that they had created in front of a live audience.

Art students took another first by participating in an art show at Madison College. Carolyn Gander, an Art I student, received 1st place in the pen and wash exhibits.

Students throughout the year were involved in geometrical designs, papier mache, pottery, clay, printing, perspective drawings, and many other subjects too numerous to mention.

Students Enjoy New Program

This was the first year that L.H.S. had a chorus. Mr. Stein, the director, started the year off by ordering music for the chorus to sing. He provided the chorus with a good selection of music which included madrigals, spirituals and patriotic music, as well as modern music. Mr. Stein worked a lot with the chorus, and even held chorus practices after school for interested students. The Chorus hopes to grow bigger and better in the years to come.

Band Gets New Leadership

Second Semester

"Note" The fine formation of the Band.

Sweet sounds of harmony echo through the school.

The newly-chartered Band Club bestowed a bit of musical culture on the community via the Christmas and Spring Concerts. They participated in several parades in Luray, the Front Royal Christmas Parade, and the Dogwood Parade. Several expert bandsmen were sent to All-Regional Band, and the entire Band competed in the District Festival. Members peddled boxes of stationery as their annual money-making project. The Band provided entertainment at all home football games with their musical half-time shows.

The majorettes went with the Band to parades and football games. The parades they attended were the Luray Fair and Christmas Parades, and the Front Royal Christmas Parade.

Mr. Stein always recorded music for the majorettes to work out their routines. It took a lot of practice and concentration to remember all the steps to the routines, but it was all worth while.

Every year the pom-pom girls put in hours of hard work and practice, to come up with lively, well co-ordinated routines. This year was no exception. Not many people realize all the time, worry, and work that go into preparing for a show. These gals can tell you all about it. Their smiling faces and lively acts were an asset to the band at games and in parades.

The Cheerleaders cheer their teams on to victory.

The Varsity Cheerleaders have been busy most of the year leading pep rallies and leading the students through cheers during football and basketball seasons. They have kept the winning spirit in both teams and probably more so during the basketball tournaments. They do more than lead cheers, too. They keep everyone's spirit up even if the game ends in a defeat. They also set examples for the student body and try to make their school the best one.

All of these factors and many more is what makes up the Varsity cheerleading squad.

Coaches, Jennings, and Campbell, "bark commands" to the team on practice days.

"Bear down men," ^{bear down",} this phrase was repeated over and over again by our head coach Doug Jennings. The roar must have been effective because our Bulldogs compiled a record of 6 wins and 4 losses, good enough for the third berth in the Skyland District.

Much of the 'Dogs success is credited to a potent ground attack which racked up 1,909 yards, second best in L.H.S. history. A set back in the defense occurred when Karl Green, one of the finest defensive backs in the area, received a knee injury during the Strasburg game.

Luray placed five men on the All-District team — Lewis Jones, and Ricky Black — guard were named to the offensive team, Charles Haines — defensive end and Jimmy Arrington — safety were named to the defensive team. Steward Yowell — running back and place kicker was named to the second team.

A spirit of unity and leadership was exhibited by the team's co-captains, Rusty Bell and John Dougans, both on and off the field.

The 1972 J.V. Football Team wasn't expected to do very well. The reason for this was that only three players returned from 1972's 4-1-1 team. Predictions didn't seem to bother the team. They went to work and finished with a 3-2-1 record, 2 losses, and 1 tie, and all three of the 'Pups' wins were shutouts. Co-captains for the team were Ikey Rowe and Arthur Billings. Coaches Earl Downs and Bill Ingram came through with another fine job. On his three years as head coach, Mr. Ingram has yet to have a losing season.

This year the Luray High School Varsity Basketball Team proved a lot of things to a lot of people.

In recent seasons, the name "Bulldogs" meant champion to all who knew them, but last year our team stumbled from its position to more experienced ball clubs.

It was the full intention of our 1972-73 squad to prove its dominance on the court to any rival; that's just what they did.

With a regular season record of 17-1, the Bulldogs went on to take the Skyline Championship trophy (1st place) and the Region B Trophy (1st place) and went on to represent our school, district, and Region in the State Championship games.

The 'Dogs lost their final game to attain the 2nd place title for group A basketball team in the state of Virginia.

Even with the loss of the championship game, Coach Richard Lyons and his team can hold their heads high and be proud of their accomplishments.

With the loss of only a few Senior players and with the addition of upcoming J.V. players, our team should and will be "the threat" for the 1973-74 season.

Behind our great team was a great coach, Mr. Lyons, who was the man which made the Bulldog machine work. The citizens of Luray can be confident and assured of quality basketball as long as he is coaching at Luray High. With his teaching of fundamental basketball and with the talent our area provides, basketball should never become a has been sport in Luray.

A brief rest in the heat of a game.

This season turned out to be better than any of the previous four years for the 8th grade team. Their 15 man squad finished up its 12 game season with a won-loss record of 6-6.

Coached by Earl Downs, the team put in a lot of hard work and showed great determination throughout the year.

At a post season banquet, the most valuable player award was given to Greg Slye for his ability and team leadership. The most improved player award was given to Jimmy Yates, who attained greater abilities as the season progressed.

In 1967, there was a varsity state championship team at Luray High School. On this team was a player named Tommy Campbell.

Mr. Campbell has returned to his own now, and is coaching boys into future potential state championship material.

His J.V.'s acquired an impressive 16-4 record this year and went on to capture the 2nd place title in the past season tournament.

We hope to see Coach Campbell and good basketball teams at Luray High School for years to come.

This year the track team had its most successful season in the history of L.H.S. Regular season ended with a total of four wins and three losses. The team placed third in the Skyline District. At the Regional and State meets, there were more points scored than in previous years.

John Dougans was the most outstanding track man in the history of L.H.S. He held seven school records, as follows:

Time
60 yd. dash	6.4
100 yd. dash	10.1
220 yd. dash	22.9
220 yd. dash	23.6 (turn)
400 yd. dash	51.8

John scored 115 points in his Senior year, and a total of 228 points throughout his career.

The boys and their coach, Rich Johnson, should be commended for all of their hard work and effort put forth to make this season the best yet.

Guidance Helpers

Who, or what is student help? Anyone can be a student helper. The job is simple.

The only requirements are cheerfulness, willingness to help, and a sense of responsibility.

Well-known student aids are the office helpers, guidance helpers, morning report carriers, library helpers, and cafeteria helpers. These students have proved invaluable in allowing teachers and other student planners to have a few extra minutes to tackle a new job.

Guidance and office helpers type, run errands and do a little filing. Morning report carriers make sure that each teacher gets a list of student activities to prepare him for the day.

Library helpers assist in keeping track of books and running the library smoothly.

Cafeteria helpers make the cafeteria ladies' tasks easier by selling ice-cream, taking trays, and serving the lunch line.

These are just a few examples of student help. Anyone can help just by keeping the school clean, helping other students, and showing interest in school projects and activities. APPLY ANYWHERE.

TO THINK,
TO UNDERSTAND,
TO DEVELOP,
TO PLAN,
TO APPRECIATE —
IS TO HAVE QUALITY EDUCATION!!

As of 1972, the Virginia Constitution required that the standards of Quality Education be adopted by all public schools in the state.

Each teacher served a vital part in implementing the goals and objectives that had been set up.

The program's main objectives are: to help each student acquire a sense of personal worth and dignity, to aid in developing relationships to the ecological, physical, economic, and social environments; and to teach an appreciation of beauty and its contribution to the world around us.

Lunch Time Provides A Welcome Relief From Classes

CAFETERIA LADIES: (L to R) Thelma Rothgeb, Eva Cameron, Rachel Smith.

The cafeteria ladies are at school before any of the students. They use the morning hours of the day to prepare lunch for the students and faculty. These ladies work hard at the thankless job of preparing well-balanced, appealing meals for the school. The school would starve without them!

BUS DRIVERS: Alice Foltz, Wilaon Huffman, Doris Petefish, Joanna Pleasants, Edith Ramey, Robert Rickard, Charlotte Gochenour.

These people have a very busy schedule and are of great importance. They are responsible for taking students to and from school, safely. They are not appreciated enough for their hard work and sense of responsibility.

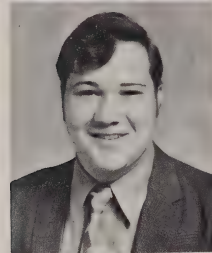

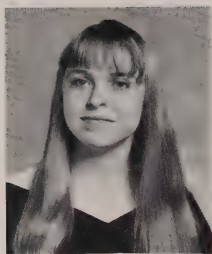

Leonard Bailey

Have you ever wondered what gives L.H.S. that special glowing look? Well, it is our maintenance staff. They slave away all day while we are taking it easy, studying. These people are overlooked a lot of the time. They do a little bit of everything from scrubbing the floor to fixing radiators. These people are just as important as the rest of us that makes L.H.S. what it is today.

JUNIORS "GET IT ALL TOGETHER"

"Getting it Together" was the junior class theme for 1972-73. A bake sale and several afternoons of leaf-raking helped prepare their class for the prom April 20. Another highlight was ordering class rings. "What color did you get?" was heard around school for quite some time. Candle making, sheet dying, and other preparations for the prom, added to a very full and unforgettable year.

Sophomores Have Prosperous Year

The class of '75 had a very prosperous year. To show their spirit for Homecoming, they entered a tractor-wagon float in the car parade. They sold stationery and candy, and had a few very successful bake sales. Their clean-up days were energetically spent, and worthwhile.

At the end of the year, the Sophomores looked forward to becoming Juniors. Their goal for the future was to make their remaining years at L.H.S. the best yet.

Freshmen Forge Ahead

The Freshman Class surprised everyone — including themselves. Only a year before they had been bewildered eighth-graders. But that had changed. Just as everyone was a year older, everyone possessed an added measure of maturity. One ninth-grader served as an SCA officer, and two others scored victories in the spring elections. Some of the freshmen felt inclinations toward public service, and worked diligently in local and national affairs — such as the political campaigns in the fall. Preparing for future needs, the class held a bake sale to raise money. Throughout the year, the Class of '76 was involved.

The eighth grade never felt so out of place than on their first days of being a member of the L.H.S. student body. There was tension, embarrassment, and a few late students for classes. There were questions and confusing answers. Even so, they add spirit to the student body and will make their class the best.

The next time someone says, "little eighth grader", remember that person had to go through the eighth grade to be what he is today.

Eighth Graders Express Change

When I first came to Luray High School I was scared to death. I was afraid that I would get lost and I was afraid that no one would like me. So for the first couple of weeks I didn't hardly talk to anyone. Finally everyone started talking to me. I have made a lot of friends since I have been here.

As days go by, I feel more wanting to learn and study. Also growing more able to study and to do hard work.

It seems that when I first started high school I was a kid. But now I feel that I am growing up and finding out more about myself and others around me.

My thoughts seem to be more serious than they used to be.

I did a lot in this year. I worked more, and had more fun, and met a lot more people. I think I became more responsible for myself.
